WOMEN AND LEADERSHIP
IN MEDICINE, SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING

SPRING 2015

WEDNESDAYS AND FRIDAYS @ 10AM –11:40AM
ENGINEERING HALL, ROOM 3355

COURSE INVOLVES REVIEW AND DISCUSSION OF RESEARCH ON:
• evolving perspectives of leadership
• evidence-based strategies for leadership in academic medicine, science and engineering
• research on gender and leadership
• unconscious assumptions about the behavior and traits of leaders and how these affect leaders
• approaches to counteracting gender biases in oneself and others

CREDITS: VARIABLE, 1-3. ASSIGNMENTS INCLUDE:
• 1 cr for attendance, discussion in weekly journal entries and responding to course readings
• 2 cr for attendance, maintaining a journal and writing a literature review or a research proposal
• 3 cr for attendance, maintaining a journal, and completing a research project which results in a paper and in-class presentation

FOR MORE INFORMATION, CONTACT COURSE INSTRUCTOR:
Molly Carnes, MD, MS
263-9770 or mlcarnes@wisc.edu

Instructors:
Molly Carnes, MD, MS
Anna Kaatz, PhD, MPH

Class # 15487
College of Engineering
(INTEGR 650)
or
Class # 31004
School of Medicine & Public Health
(MEDICINE 650)